Morishitagami

Morishitagami after the name of the locality, is a thick paper used for archival documents during the Muromachi period (1336-1573) and later in the manufacture of umbrellas. Currently it is used for printing prints. It was originally manufactured in Mino.

© Copyright Khartasia / C. Laroque — 31/10/2026